BERLIN, April 23.—Sen-cesses in Greece, including "annihilation" of British rear guard force at Thermopylae Pass, were announced by the high command today.

Rapid fire announcements told of the surrender of encircled Greek armies of Macedonia and the Epirus and stated representatives of the German, Italian and Greek high commands were arranging details of this mass capitulation.
The high command also stated that the German army yesterday
"caught, surrounded and annihilated"
a British expeditionary force rear guard contingent in a fierce but short battle at Storied Thermopylae, where centuries ago Leonidas

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa News noted an auto carrying a Vermont license going through the city on Tuesday. Vermont is one of the rarest licenses seen on the streets here.

New Castle's annual crop of Spirea is about to burst upon the city in its abundance. Some of the flowers are already to be seen, and in a few days probably the rest of the thousands of bushes in the city will be in bloom.

Dr. and Mrs. Homer Allen, local newlyweds, in New York on their honeymoon were on a radio "quiz" program in that city last night, and achieved a record of answering correctly all questions put to them.

Workmen removed a peculiar hump which had accumulated at the streets, Tuesday afternoon. When Jefferson street was given a top-

General European Bloc Against Britain Aim Of Axis Allies

By EARL REEVES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, April 23.—Germany and Italy soon may launch a widespread diplomatic action to organize a general European bloc against Britain.

This information was given this correspondent today by a highly reliable French source, who said the new European set-up may prove the equivalent of a United States of Europe.

Portugal and Spain, this informant said, have newly been cast in leading roles in the projected European union, which will be organized,
it was stated, under German hegemony.

Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Slovakia already have joined this union and Greece was described as "weakening."

Turkey has been "pocketed" by the German Balkan advance, the informant said, and thus probably will have no choice save to sign up under German tutelage.

May Meet Franco

French Chief of State Marshal
Henri Philippe Petain, the informant said, is making a journey to the Pyrenees, accompanied by Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan—ostensibly to visit the famous shrine at Lourdes.

But it was stated Petain probably will continue this trip down to the Spanish frontier to meet Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

It was forecast that this meeting,

Renew Effort To End Coal Tieup

Southern Operators Return To Conference At New York Last Night

RESUME PARLEY THIS AFTERNOON

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Southern Appalachian bituminous operators and the CIO's United Mine Workers planned to renew negotiations today in an effort to meet President Roosevelt's appeal to end the 23-day-old stoppage of 400,000 miners in the nation's soft coal fields.

Although no agreement was reached at a two-hour conference last night the first to be held since the southerners bolted the joint Appalachian conference April 11, Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the federal conciliation service, said
the meeting was "very friendly."

"We canvassed the general situation we face at this time," Dr. Steelman declared. "Both sides have matters to discuss and we felt we would save time by adjourning until 2 p. m. today, allowing each side to meet earlier to consider the situation."

Northern mine owners already have come to an agreement with the union and have authorized a basic wage increase from $6 to $7 a day.
Neither the northern operators or John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, will agree to reopen any of the mines until the southerners likewise agree to terms.

The southern operators, who represent 45 per cent. of the Appalachian production and employ 150-000 miners, today emphasized that their negotiations would be only with the union and that they were not returning to the joint Appalachian conference.

Betty Grable Has Dental Operation

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—Betty Grable, blonde stage and film actress, was recovering in a Santa Monica hospital today from the effects of an emergency dental operation.

The star had an impacted wisdom tooth which caused her to run a high temperature. The operation was performed to avoid grave complications. It was expected Miss Grable will remain in the hospital for several days.

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT TO END CAREER

(International News Service)
BOSTON, April 23.—The Boston
Evening Transcript, established more than a century ago, will cease publication next Wednesday, it was announced today.

Founded in 1830, the Transcript long maintained its position as one of the most famous daily newspapers in the world. With inception of the depression following the stock market crash of 1929, however, its circulation and its financial advertising dropped steadily.

George Groucutt, of the Butler Road, who has been confined to the New Castle hospital for seven weeks, for treatment, underwent a leg amputation, Tuesday morning. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

Benefit Throng Aids Greek Cause

Host Of 800 Dancers To Put Cash In Local War Relief Fund

Eight hundred New Castleites last night danced and played bingo and cards in the Cathedral to help swell
the Greek War Relief Fund. Profits of the benefit, leaders estimated, may reach $700.

The party proceeds will be added to the $5,500 which already has been forwarded to Pittsburgh from New Castle and Lawrence county.

Sponsored by the Philoptochos society of St. George's Greek Orthodox church, East Reynolds street, the community social proved the success its backers hoped it would be. Entertainment was excellent all evening long.

Cooperating ladies of the British and Polish relief units here helped the Greek fund ladies earn cash for their war-torn relatives abroad. The money will go to provide civilian needs while at a time when the nation's normal material resources are being drained.

Mrs. William Lestas was general chairman of the corps of hard-working committees handling the many details of the party.

President May Postpone Trip To Warm Springs

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Continued failure of the soft coal mines to reopen threatened today to prevent President Roosevelt from leaving Washington tonight for a short trip to the Warm Springs, Ga., infantile paralysis foundation.

Should there be any "glad tidings" from New York, where southern operators have resumed negotiations with John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers, it was indicated, however, the trip might be made on approximate schedule.

"The President would like to go to Warm Springs," said White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, "but the coal situation is preventing him from going at the present time. If we could get any glad tidings from New York, I think we could very quickly get the railroad equipment assembled."

REPORTS CREATING DISMAY IN BRITAIN

Swiss Radio Broadcast Says
King George Of Greece
Flees To Crete

LONDON, April 23.—Reports that a German occupational force may already have seized Athens and its entire communications system reached London today with word that King George and his government had fled the Greek capital to the Island of Crete.

There was no direct communications with Athens for many hours after swiftly moving German panzer units were reported on the outskirts of the capital.

A Swiss radio broadcast picked up in London told of the departure of King George and his cabinet some hours after the German and Italian governments announced capitulation of the Greek armies of the Epirus and Macedonia.

The broadcaster read a proclamation issued by King George before he left his country, announcing his decision to continue the struggle against aggression from abroad.

Dismay Is Caused

There was no disguising the dismay caused by the debacle in Greece. Official British circles insisted they had received no direct confirmation that King George had fled. Well-informed quarters, however, pointed out that such a transfer of the Greek government had been envisaged some time ago and that it "probably has taken place."
So far as an outright Anglo-Greek surrender on the Hellenic Archipelago was concerned, Whitehall

New Tax Program Would Curb Buying To Halt Inflation

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, April 23.—
The treasury's $3,500,000-000 tax program is designed both to make the present generation pay the biggest part of the defense bill and to halt rising prices by curbing consumer buying, experts informed house ways and means committee members
today.

The new tax program, which would hit every class of taxpayers but boost income taxes more sharply on smaller taxpayers, will be laid before the committee formally by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tomorrow.

Prevent Inflation
The real purpose of this bill,
"so we were informed, is to curb buying and thus to prevent inflation," Rep. Gearhart (R., Calif., said.

Under the treasury formula, two-thirds of present cost of government would be paid by taxation.

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 23.—A damaging British raid against the Libyan port of Bardia, now held by Italo-German forces, was announced officially in London today.

"A British force, armed with special demolition materials landed near Bardia April 20," the communique related.

"They destroyed an important bridge, set fire to valuable stores and a dump, and wrecked four coast defense guns."

turned to their bases. About 60 men

Prices would be held down by heavy taxes on free-spending groups such as defense workers who are now earning big wages.
Bitter conflict over the treasury program was certain, as members called upon congressional tax experts for alternative views.
Colin F. Stam, joint congressional tax expert, submitted a program in opposition to treasury proposals. The Stam program called for lower incomes taxes on the smaller taxpayers, with rates rising sharply upon incomes above $50,000 annually.

The Stam program also was reported to include taxes on private airplanes, yachts, vending machines and other so-called luxury goods untouched in the treasury program.

While Secretary of the Treasury changes, it was apparent that he would recommend increases all along the line.

Forest Fires Under Control

Fires In Eleven States Of Eastern Seaboard Nearly Extinguished

HUNDREDS ARE LEFT HOMELESS

(International News Service)

The majority of forest fires which swept 11 states of the eastern seaboard during the past three days were reported under control today.

With hundreds left homeless, and property damage running into the millions, public and private agencies took over the administration of relief.

In New Jersey, most severely affected state, officials said the total of burned-over acres was in excess of 85,000.

Fire bugs, perhaps saboteurs, were sought in some of the states where it was reported that evidence had been uncovered indicating incendiarism.

Despite reports that the majority of blazes were under control, firefighters continued to "stand by" as the eastern dry spell continued with no forecast of rain.

construction quartermaster at In-diantown Gap, today disclosed the war department is ready to ask bids on an additional $300,000 worth of Major Kay said the present proand the additional work, including the erection of a veterinary hospital of two buildings, signal communications school of two buildings, a third theatre seating 1,000 persons, nine chapels and 11 officers' residences will begin after that date. The total cost of the work at the camp, he said, was approximately $15,000,000.

The first fatal accident since training got underway today was listed on camp records. Joseph Gorak, 30, Mont Clare, Montgomery County, a staff sergeant of Troop D mechanized, burned to death when his motorcycle collided with a truck while participating in a regimental training trip. Sergeant Gorak's motorcycle apparently struck the truck and burst into flames.

Another unit of the 28th division was under quarantine today when
Pvt. John Forsman, Erie bandsman, was stricken with measles. His company, the 112th Infantry band, was placed under a "working quaran-

GREEK RESISTANCE BEING BROKEN DOWN

Government Of Greece Will

BUDAPEST, April 23.—
The Greek government under King George II abandoned
Athens to the advancing Germans today and announced that it was fleeing to a temporary capital on the British-occupied Greek Isle of Crete, according to last-minute advices reaching Budapest.

Word of the Greek government's flight from its historic capital came simultaneously with announcement in Rome and Berlin that the Greek armies in the northwestern Epirus area and in Macedonia had capitulated.

Resistance Collapsing
All reports indicated Greek resistance against the hammer-blow of the axis powers is collapsing rapidly.

Only a few hours before the Greek forces surrendered to the Italian 11th army in the Epirus
the Athens radio had broadcast an encouraging communique which said:
"Withdrawal of our lines has been completed without any serious hindrance."

"Enemy air action continues intensely, but the enemy suffered considerable losses from the air force and from anti-aircraft artillery."

Express reported that the Ankara radio broadcast a dispatch claiming German forces had captured Lem-

Plymouth Again Bombed By Nazis

Heavy Damage Caused By Raid

Waves Of German Raiders Make Long Attack On Seaport Base

RESCUE WORKERS UNDERGO BOMBING

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 23.—Causing widespread damage and a heavy casualty list, waves of Nazi raiders pounded the English seaport and naval base of Plymouth during the night and early this morning.

Simultaneously it was revealed that the American embassy in London was slightly damaged during one of the recent terrific air raids on the British capital. Two of the embassy's windows were blasted by bomb bursts.

During the attack on the southwestern town, waves of raiders poured tons of high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs as well as parachute flares, on the city, concentrating on fierce fires which soon became a wall of flame.

Bomb Rescue Workers
Private homes and business dwellings were wrecked, along with churches, hospitals and motion picture theaters.

Bombs howled down around rescue workers as they struggled to dig out persons trapped in wrecked public shelters which suffered direct hits.

The air ministry communique said: "Enemy attacks were directed mainly against a town in southwest England. Fires were started and considerable damage was done. Reports on casualties are not yet complete."

"Bombs also were dropped on places in southern England and points in South Wales and north-eastern Scotland. There was little damage, but at points on the south coast there were slight casualties, including fatalities."

The attack on the southwestern town was staged in two phases. During the first flares, incendiary bombs and high explosives were dropped, but this attack died down before midnight. Early in the morning the town was attacked again.

BERLIN REPORTS NEW SUCCESSES IN BALKAN WAR

British resistance in Greece, as a result of this decisive triumph, had been "practically wiped out."

They declared the remainder of the struggle has now been transformed into a "man-hunt" by the Germans seeking the remnants of the British expeditionary force, and into a "race" by the British who are seeking to escape from the "hellenic trap" aboard transport vessels.

Incessant German air attacks on these transport ships also were announced.

Stuka dive-bombers, German quarters said, sank four transport ships aggregating 12,000 tons and damaged nine others, totalling 30,000 tons, at Patras Harbor.

All of these destroyed or crippled vessels, they said, had been destined to evacuate British troops.

Road Is Blocked
According to German circles disaster overwhelmed the British expeditionary force after a German "blitz" thrust by Panzer units working in cooperation with the Luftwaffe blocked the road south to Athens and compelled the retreating British to turn about and fight.

While this was going on, these circles said, other German Panzer columns rushed still further south. By tonight, German authorities indicated it may be known whether the German forces will enter Athens immediately or whether the Greeks there will be given an opportunity to capitulate.

The fury of the German air hunt for British transports, German quarters added, indicated the extent of the British debacle. They declared that even if a large portion of the B. E. F. managed to get aboard these vessels, it is now "fairly evident that only a minor fraction safely escaped."

Some Greeks Surrender
A special announcement issued by Chancellor Hitler's Balkan headquarters revealed that the Greek forces which laid down their arms had been trapped by a vast encircling drive which brought about their unconditional capitulation.

This communique stated: "The encircled Greek Epirus and Macedonian army surrendered unconditionally."

Continued heavy German bombing attacks on British transport and merchant vessels in Greek waters also were announced by the high command.

One British armored cruiser was badly damaged and three merchant vessels and transports aggregating 25,000 tons were sunk at Suda Bay in Crete, this announcement said.

ROME REPORTS GREEK ARMY IN MACEDONIA HAS NOW CAPITULATED

of the Italian Eleventh Army on the Epirus front, and that "details of the surrender are now being worked out in full agreement with the allied German command."

Announcement of the surrender of these forces followed a previous announcement by the Italian high command that Italian troops had burst across the Albanian frontier into Grecian territory at all points.

Capitulation of the Greek troops came after more than 400 Italian pursuit planes, bombers and dive-bombers pressed an unceasing bombardment of the Greek army, which had been pressed into retreat by the Fascist advance.

Motor car columns, transports and troops on the march were bombed, the high command said, and "innumerable losses were inflicted on the enemy."

Rome, April 23.—Capitulation of Greek army units in Macedonia and the northwestern Epirus section of Greece was announced today by the Italian high command, which predicted all Hellenic fighting forces would be thrown down their arms in surrender in the near future.

Large numbers of prisoners and great amounts of war materials were taken by the Italians, it was announced.

BUILDING PERMITS

Harry McOwen, today was given a permit by the city bureau of building to build a porch at 512 West Madison avenue and Mrs. Marie Conrad was also given a permit to erect a small shed at 611½ West North street.

To judge the seriousness of a crisis, note how snooty the dealer is when he makes his insulting offer for your old car.

PA NEW OBSERVES

dressing of crushed limestone was applied. During the winter, traffic caused this to gather in one spot, where it hardened and formed a heap several inches high. It had to be dug off with a pick.

Well, the overcoats that had been put away until next fall were again brought into use because of the returned cool spell, and were much in evidence this morning.

New buses that were in use on some of the lines here recently, seem to have ceased to operate. Pa New understands they were simply being tried out with a view to future use.

Although the temperature got down to 31 degrees during the night, no frost was indicated, and towards morning, it began to warm up, so that damage to tender vegetation is believed to have been averted.

LONDON HEARS REPORT NAZIS ARE IN ATHENS

spokesmen insisted that Allied troops were holding out at certain unspecified spots.

King George's own proclamation stressed his own and the Greek army's determination to fight on. It admitted, however, that Greek forces in the Epirus had signed an armistice with the Germans without informing the government.

The latter, he said, moved to Crete "to continue the struggle which is the will of the nation."

"It is our duty," the monarch said, "to safeguard our independence and integrity."

"We do not know the condition of the Epirus army's surrender, but it has not involved the free will of the nation, the king or the government."

Fight Will Persist
"The fight will persist with all our remaining forces."

According to the proclamation British forces are still engaged on the Lamia front above Athens.

Authoritative British circles refused today to accept axis claims that Anglo-Greek resistance in Greece has been smashed.

As far as is known in London, these quarters stated, the new British and Greek defense positions have not been broken by German forces.

They said that the defending British Imperial and Hellenic troops are still fighting stubbornly.

Earlier official British circles said they were not in position to confirm reports that the Greek fighting forces in Epirus and Macedonia have collapsed, as claimed by Germany and Italy.

The London Evening Standard, however, said the reports are "probably true."

The Standard stated: "While there is no confirmation of the report that Greece is surrendering, the Anglo-Greek armies have been fighting long and are hard-pressed."

"Probably the reports are true." Official quarters in London pointed out that for many months the Greeks have conducted a heroic resistance against greatly superior armies and added:

"We cannot exclude the possibility that the Greeks have found further hostilities impossible."

There was little information regarding the fate of British troops in Greece.

Authoritative military circles, however, admitted that "important" German forces had succeeded in reaching positions astride the main lines of communication of Greek forces withdrawing from Albania.

The Greeks have been cut off from their main supply bases and there is little chance of further withdrawal as an organized body, it was admitted.

(Editor's note: The German high command announced disruption of the Greek retreat in the Albanian sector yesterday when the strategic Greek city of Yanina was taken by Nazi mechanized columns.)

In closing, packages of marigolds were distributed, and a novel "white elephant" feature was conducted with Mrs. Harry Kelly as the auctioneer.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, before the guests departed, and it was decided to hold their next meeting in the form of a tureen dinner on May 27, the place to be decided.

VIRGINIA BOWMAN WEDS E. W. JOHNSON

Before the beautifully embanked altar of ferns, palms and pink, white and yellow spring flowers in the First Christian church, Tuesday, Miss Virginia Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Cloud Bowman of Greenwood avenue, became the bride of Edward W. Johnson of Baltimore, son of Mrs. Edward A. Johnson of Chicago, Ill.

The wedding vows were exchanged before a large assemblage of friends at 12:30 o'clock, with Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor, officiating with the impressive single ring ceremony.

Preceding, Mrs. Katherine Nessel, organist, played a 15-minute period of nuptial music, and throughout the service she played favorite selections of the bride.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the wedding party entered the church, and the bride was lovely in a blue crepe frock, with a harmonizing flowered toque, and a shoulder corsage of tulip and roses. Her only ornament was a bracelet, a gift of the groom, and matched a necklace which had been given to the bride previously.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Richard M. Marquis was attired in a dusty pink ensemble, with a black and white toque, and a corsage of pink rose buds. Miss Mildred Miller, a cousin of the bride, was also attired in dusty pink with a harmonizing toque and corsage of pink rosebuds.

Lyle N. Snively and Lars Nelson of Chicago, Ill., served as the groom's attendants.

As the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March resounded throughout the church, the couple greeted the guests in the front of the altar.

Immediately following the congratulatory period, a wedding luncheon was served in the Bowman home for the bridal party and members of the immediate families. The bride table was attractively arranged with the traditional wedding cake, topped with the miniature bride and groom, centering the table, being accompanied by gleaming crystal candelabra and dainty spring flowers.

Later in the day, the couple left for a southern wedding trip and after June 15 will be at home in Baltimore.

The bride is a graduate of the New Castle senior high school, Slippery Rock State Teachers college, attended the University of Pittsburgh, and is a teacher in the Oak street school. Mr. Johnson was graduated from the Illinois Institute of Technology, attended Northwestern university and the University of Pittsburgh, from which he received his master's degree. At the present time he is an engineer for the United States government and is stationed in Baltimore.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. E. A. Johnson, Doris Johnson, Lars Nelson and Lyle N. Snively, all of Chicago.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PUNISHMENT ALWAYS A PROBLEM

Repeatedly I have urged in this column that the baby should learn the meaning of No as soon as he begins to toddle. I even recommended spanking for this purpose. I have also tried to show how very seldom physical pain is necessary and how it can be abandoned in the very early years. Just as soon as the toddler will stay where he is put for an allotted period, without being held or tied there, you can, and undoubtedly should, cease to spank him. A very effective substitute is for him to have to sit in a definite period as measured by the clock (and always as so determined, and not "till I tell you to get down") in a comfortable chair with a footrest.

For a spank to be effective it should follow the forbidden act immediately after its first occurrence, and every time thereafter without exception. Unless these principles can pretty surely be applied to a particular situation spanking better not be chosen. Such acts as thumb-sucking, nail-biting should not be punished by spanking.

The Parent's Error

A mother in one of my parent classes at the university once enquired about her two-year-old who had been spanked for opening the ice box. She said, "The child soon learned not to open it when I was in the kitchen but will still open it while I am in another room or upstairs." Of course, her error was obvious. She would spank the child on finding what had happened. But often he had had long enjoyment at the forbidden pleasure before apprehension; sometimes he had succeeded without being caught at all. The punishment was not immediate, nor without exception. He had not learned to avoid the ice box permanently and automatically, regardless of the mother's presence. Punishment which does not prove effective enough to deter in your absence as well as in your presence, is bad punishment.

The mother was advised not to tempt the baby by leaving him exposed to the ice box when he could open it without immediate discomfort; but to be with him always when he was near the ice box so that he would learn so well to avoid it that by and by he would avoid it automatically, even if she were to be away. Accordingly she would take the child with her on leaving the kitchen until such time as the habit of avoidance had been established without any doubt.

Notice too that I have never advised spanking or any other punishment to get the child to do what you want him to do. Pain prevents. Make pleasant what you want the little child to do, painful only what you want him to stop doing. Therefore rule out punishment in relation with eating and sleeping habits.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Should a child attend public movies?
A. Yes, if the parents are careful in the selection of the movie and does not let him go too often.

THOSE LAW MAKERS.

Every once in a while some imp of the perverse (to borrow a Poe phrase) suggests to us that I write something looking toward a more lordly widening of the intervals between meetings of State Legislatures.

The Pennsylvania Legislature meets, you may have noticed, every two years. With special sessions in between—these are becoming more regular than special.

Does this mean that legislating, meaning the making of laws, is striving sweetly to keep up with perfect law-enforcement?

We are inclined toward a delicate dubiety. This year of Forty-one has seen thousands of measures introduced at State Capitals, or, to use a significant phrase more or less impartially adopted by the newspaper reporters—"poured into the legislative hopper."

Many of these measures are hastily introduced to correct mistakes too hastily made at the last session. With the possibility that haste trying to overtake haste will have to be slowed down at the next session.

Whenever there is any sort of a reform cry, demand, or crusade, in any big newspaper, Senators and Assemblymen rush forward, to interpret it in new bills that reflect undying publicity (for a day or so) upon themselves, and sometimes become a law, to give gray hair to men who try to keep the law intelligible.

Not all State or National legislators are equipped to be lawmakers. Yet a member of the Legislature is a legislator (is he not?) even if his voters sent him to Harrisburg simply because they liked him more than the man who ran against him.

Heaven's, we have the con-struing courts to say the final word about the impulsive ideas of the lawmakers.

Should the Legislature of Pennsylvania meet only once in ten or twelve years?

We are tempted toward dogmatism, but refuse to commit ourselves, knowing the danger of pursuing an idea too far.

Heaven's, this of it! Some legislator might pin us to the wall with the corollary that a town like New Castle could get along indefinitely without a Town Council.

And then, truly, a deadly blade like Chicot's would be at our throat.

"Well, Ma'am," said Bridget, "I thought you might get mixed up, so them there with 'T. A.' means 'Tis Apples,' and the other three with 'T. A.' means 'Taint Apples!'"

Want Restricted Zones Around Camps
Rainbow Division Vets Voice Opinion
Former Prohibition Chief Is Quoted

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Agitation continues for the establishment of moral and dry zones around army and navy posts.

Opposition to 'em also is developing, however.

Washington, of course, is the very center of the national whirlpool of such conversation, pro and con. A lot of it is pro. The pro element is pretty strong in Congress among other places. On the opposite hand, though, as conspicuous an organization as the District of Columbia Chapter of the Rainbow Division of Veterans is inviting the contrary side throughout the country to funnel protests in to its headquarters, promising to utilize 'em where they'll be most effective and to the best advantage.

The District's Rainbow chaps hotly resent the implication that soldiers and sailors "are any more in need of protection against tendencies toward drunkenness and immorality than any other group of men. It's an uncompromising and generally unjustified conception of the standards of these young Americans," adds the Rainbow boys' statement of their position.

Besides agreeing with the Rainbow chapter's estimate of the average decency of our soldiers and sailors, I've always had my doubts of the efficacy of legislation to regulate bad habits of a purely personal nature.

Nevertheless, I never had any experience in trying to enforce that sort of regulation. Consequently, before drawing any conclusions of my own relative to the pending controversy, I thought I ought to consult an expert, and the best one I know is Dr. James M. Moran. I've had occasion to quote him before, but this time I went into the subject with him quite deeply.

Enforced Dry Law

Back in the dry days, Doc Moran, an eminent chemist, was chief of our prohibition enforcement unit, up to the time of repeal of the 18th amendment.

I don't believe the doc was a dry in principle. Anyway, I've joined him in an occasional drink since the amendment was abolished. Furthermore, upon its abolition he gravitated into the executive directorship of the Distillers' Institute, which wouldn't seem to imply that he's absolutely prohibitionist.

Still, he's ardently for law enforcement, enforcing prohibition while it remained the law was his job, and he worked at it overtime and, beyond any question, sincerely.

His unit, under his management, confiscated moonshine by the hog—(Continued On Page Five)

NEW YORK—Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones warns that the American people have not yet been "shocked" into a realization of the seriousness of the world situation.

"There is no room in America today for complacency—there is no place in the crucial world of 1941 for any delay or any excuses."

WASHINGTON—Defense chief-tain Sidney Hillman urges that industrial leaders and labor representatives work hand-in-hand.

"We can beat any totalitarian system based on coercion, outbuilding them and outdoing them if we continue with organized cooperation."

NEW YORK—Bishop Henry W. Hobson, chairman of the "fight for freedom" committee, calls on America to use force in downing Hitler.

"Force in a moment of emergency is at times the only weapon which shall prevent evil from triumphing over right."

WASHINGTON—Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, who saved baseball from an enforced shutdown in 1918, expresses the hope that the government will not let the draft disrupt baseball.

"It is my thought that the government might consider some plan whereby professional baseball players might be treated in a different manner under the draft."

MARTIN HOUSE LANDLORD
If you would rent your martin house, then take these hints from me:

A very thoughtful landlord and obliging you must be: But first be sure to choose a site away from roof and tree.

You must not think of taxes high and all the woes they bring. Or with a frowning face bewail the cost of everything.

But you must pay to paint the house when it is early spring.

The martins are particular; there's much which they require. They will not take a house which stands too close to trees or wire.

For space to wing and soar about, unhampered, they desire.

So, landlord, loose your pocketbook and tidy keep the place. And give the martins airy rooms and ample flying space: Then gladly will they move right in your gar-en plot to grace.

They Must Be Linked

WASHINGTON, April 23 AS outlined by the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, the 1941 tax program seems to bear out the way prediction made some weeks ago by Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, that a tax bill would be passed this year that would "jerk 'em out of their shoes."

APPARENTLY, Senator Connally knew what he was talking about. If three and one half billion dollars more than was raised last year is to be raised by the new bill, then everybody, from the topmost-bracket boys down to millions who heretofore have paid no direct tax at all, will feel the jerk—and feel it painfully. Beyond doubt, this will be pretty tough on a lot of people, but there will not be many to deny that it is as inevitable as it is sound.

THERE is little use now in pointing out that no such tax bill (the greatest in all history) would be necessary if in the last eight years the national debt had not been pyramided and the cost of government swollen beyond all reason. That water is over the dam. The fact to be faced now is that because of the defense program, undramatic heavy taxes are essential to complete and calamitous national bankruptcy is to be averted. We have got to pay—every last one of us—and pay through the nose. There is no escape from it, and we may as well accept the fact, tighten our belts and pay cheerfully.

OBVIOUSLY, it will be impossible to get this three and one half additional billions from income taxes alone. You can lower the exemptions to the limit and you can raise the rates to the point of confiscation, and the experts know that the most that can be realized is another billion dollars. To get the balance of two and one half billions, it is clear other means must be found besides that of taxing the incomes of individuals and corporations. This new bill, of course, will take land additional toll from these, but the duldest member of Congress knows that unless new sources are uncovered the resulting revenue will be far short of Mr. Morgenthau's three and one half billions.

WHAT other sources are available? One, of course, is a gross pay-roll tax, another is a Federal sales tax. If these are adopted, the money can be raised. If they are not adopted, the money cannot be raised, even though a hundred per cent of the income of every millionaire in the country is taken. The President has always opposed the sales tax. He personally prevented its enactment in 1933, when the Senate had all set to act, and recently he again voiced his hostility. But the acuteness of the situation may compel a change in his view. At any rate, no student of the tax situation sees any real chance of avoiding either a sales or the pay-roll tax—if the Morgenthau goal is to be reached. The best judgment is that both are likely to be needed.

CERTAINLY, the taxes to be paid in 1942 will be far heavier than (Continued On Page Five)

"Haney Club" Party Tuesday At Grange Welcomes Shenkans

Dinner-Program At Grange For President And Mrs. E. Shenkan Tuesday Night

"Welcome home" to their president, E. Shenkan, and wife, the employees and families of the Haney club of the Haney Furniture company, on the Diamond, at a dinner at the New Wilmington Grange hall on Tuesday evening, proved an overwhelming success in every way. It marked the annual spring jamboree and get-together.

Launching the evening was the serving of a deliciously prepared full dinner course by the ladies of the Grange.

Following the serving the assemblage enjoyed an informative and descriptive talk by Mr. Shenkan, when he related the highlights on the southern trip. In conclusion he presented each guest with a souvenir as a memento of the southland.

Adding further to the evening's pleasure were two humorous plays entitled "Squirrels It with the Boss" and "Business and So-Forth". The casts chosen for each gave fine performances. Keeping their audiences in roars of laughter, and were directed by Miss Helen Keder.

In the first were the following characters: Jimmy Greening (husband) by Dallas Smith; Beth Greening (wife) by Eileen O'Leary; John Bender (baby) by David Riley; Aunt Hortense (old maid aunt) by Audrine Gribble; Aunt Clarissa (old maid aunt) by Anna Mae Haug; Mr. Dunne (the boss) by Arch Thompson. Those in the second skit included Attorney Lee Gittimate, by Arch Thompson; Anne Howe, applicant, by Charles Brickner; Bea Shapely, applicant, by Joe Dagnon; Ben E. Factor, salesman, by Francis Tinsley.

During the evening attractive door prizes were awarded to David Sneathen, Ralph Magee, David Riley, Mrs. Russell Batley, Mrs. Ralph Magee and Mrs. Ray Gray.

Much credit is given the committee in charge, composed of Miss Helen Keder, Dallas Smith and W. E. Trick, for so capably arranging the affair.

News Briefs From City Hall

Suffering from wanderlust many young boys and girls and also persons who have passed 21 are missing from home in various parts of the country and daily the teletype in the city police station carries appeals from frantic parents, husbands and wives, asking that search be made for missing persons. The latest Lawrence county boy reported missing is Raymond Suszynski, aged 15, who lives near Princeton. Ten others from the tri-state district are also reported on the missing list. Annually in the United States according to reports one million persons "drop out of sight."

Police officers today served warrants on persons who failed to honor tickets placed on automobiles for violation of parking meter laws here. Excepting in extraordinary cases no one is being excused from payment of a fine nowadays. Those who do receive tickets have an opportunity of appearing in traffic court at nine a. m. daily to explain why they should not be required to pay a fine.

Young Golfer Dies From Blow

Struck In Neck By Companion
While Practicing At Gaston Park

Clarence Earl Gardner, aged 16 years, son of Christopher Gardner, 428 Galbreath avenue, died enroute to the New Castle hospital late Tuesday afternoon, after being accidentally struck in the neck with a golf club, said to have been swung by Frank Alturi, a companion, while the boys were practicing at Gaston Park.

According to information secured by Coroner T. P. Nugent, young Gardner, with William Chamberlain, of 406 Denver avenue, Frank Alturi, of 1410 Hamilton street, Harold Shostberger, of 1714 Hamilton street; Jack Dannels, of 1717 Hamilton street; and Morris McHattie, of 30 1/2 South Mercer street, were at Gaston Park, where they were practicing driving a ball with a brassie.

Just as Alturi swung at the ball, Gardner and another boy, who were suffering, got in the path of the club, the head of which struck him just under the right ear. Realizing that he had been badly hurt, the boys tried to revive him, and when their efforts failed, they carried him down over the hill to get him to a doctor. A passing motorist took the injured youth to the New Castle hospital, but he expired before the hospital was reached.

Clarence was born in New Castle on December 24, 1924, son of Christopher and Zora Reitz Gardner and had spent all his life here. He was a student at Ben Franklin school.

Survivors are his father; one brother, Clyde of Port Monroe, Va., and a sister, Mildred, at home. His mother preceded him in death on July 17, 1937.

The body has been removed to the Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street, where funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Homewood cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

What's What At A Glance

headful. It caught bootleggers right and left. Now and then it shot one, trying to make a get-away. Occasionally it shot a non-bootlegger by accident. Oh, nobody ever suspected that Doc Doran didn't do his damndest to make that law stick.

Some of the doc's underlings weren't such 100-percenters as he was. To a certain extent the unit was a convenience to bootleg parties. There was a lot of down-right poisonous moonshine in circulation in that era. If you bought a gallon of the stuff you were afraid to drink it, lest it kill you. But if you had some good friends in the prohibition unit, they'd analyze it for you, and then, if they okayed it, you could consume it; otherwise pour it down the sewer.

Never for a minute do I surmise that Doc Doran winked at this system, but I do have a hunch that he was aware of its existence, though he couldn't pin it on anybody or he'd have fired the guy instant. But his presumable knowledge of what was going on, though he couldn't prevent it, probably made him provisionally pretty skeptical.

How About Zones?
Well, I asked Doc Doran for his opinion of dry and morality zones around our army and navy posts. Would such zones keep our selectees out of mischief?

"Say," answered the doc, "you know how prohibition worked?"
So I did, in fact. That was a reply to that question.

"Now, as to other forms of vice," the doc continued, "if Uncle Sam could put meters on miscellaneous prohibited immoralities, and collect a tax on violations of his prohibitions, he could pay off the national debt in short order."

"Zones!" The doc snorted. "What's to prevent the invasion of 'em in traffic?"
I inferred that Doc Doran's prohibition-unit-experience had disillusioned him very thoroughly as to the effectiveness of bad-habit-control by statute.

And, believe me, if he stands a chance, he's an extraordinarily resolute would-be statute-enforcer, whether or not he believes in the statute he's endeavoring to make effective. I've seen him in action.

of Athens, and the cities of Eleusis and Megara and other points in the Attica district.

Italian planes likewise bombed in Cephalonia and Corfu, according to an official Greek communique. Departure of the Greek government from Athens had been forecast in a Budapest radio broadcast last night. The Hungarian announcer said that if and when German forces broke through the allied third line of defense, the Greek government would leave Athens for Crete, "where it will continue to operate."

King Flees
London, April 23.—King George II has fled from Greece before the advancing axis armies, according to a Swiss radio broadcast picked up in London today.

The Swiss radio broadcast said the Greek monarch left the country, but before departing from Athens addressed a proclamation to his people.

This proclamation was quoted as stating:
"The Greek armies on the left flank have surrendered.
"The Greek government has gone to Crete."

There's nothing new. A bayonet is only a spear, and the incendiary bomb is the blazing arrow that fell on the homes of Pioneers.

The Great Game Of Politics

those of the last war; heavier than anyone in this country ever dreamed of before. Naturally, there will be squeals and growls from the victims, but in the main the people will pay without protest. For one thing, they understand the necessity; for another, they recognize, it would seem, even better than some of their leaders, the danger of drifting. Until a few days ago the Administration was without a real financial program. Now a very stiff program is proposed, but the dose has to be taken, and it is encouraging that the Republican as well as Democratic leaders have endorsed it. They may differ as to means, but they all agree that the new bill must produce the gigantic sum of 12 1/2 billion dollar, or 3 1/2 billions more than this year.

IT will be a great feat to have the people accept so terrific a tax burden as now looms. It will curtail their income, impose many hardships and much suffering, but there is no escape from it, and very few want to escape. However, what the people do want—and what they should insist upon—is that the vast sums so taken from them be not wasted. Certainly, no Administration ought to propose such a bill for abnormal expenses without accompanying it with every possible reduction in normal expenses. Increased taxes are tolerable only when linked with the elimination of useless expenditures. This Administration promised to link them together, but it has not so done.

INSTEAD of reducing the tricky budget which the President submitted in January increases normal expenditures. The trick was in transferring to the defense budget all the normal War and Navy Department expenses, including the salaries of the Secretaries. In addition, totally ignoring his promise to "part to the bone", Mr. Roosevelt personally urged the hundred percent increase in the appropriation for the useless Office of Government Reports. Also, in the name of "defense", he has revived his pet St. Lawrence waterways project, a dubious scheme at best and one which would cost more than $280,000,000. And, finally, without lifting his hand to protest, he permitted the passage of a farm bill which, despite House rejection of the Senate amendment, promises to add $450,000,000 to his estimates.

IN view of the Presidential promises to retrench and of the present unprecedented tax proposals, thus to pile up hundreds of millions of unnecessary expense is not only indefensible; it is shocking and outrageous. No thoughtful and informed man can honestly defend such performances. They baffle and appeal those who want to believe in the President's good faith and to support his foreign policy. The most disturbing single factor in the whole American picture is the failure of the people generally to grasp what they mean or to resent what inexcusable incompetence and extravagance is doing to them.

IT may be that the new tax bill will jar them out of their inertia. Perhaps when millions who were never pinched by taxes before begin to be pinched and the millions who have been pinched regularly get pinched twice as hard it may be that their indignation over these phony promises of economy which are followed by more waste will become vibrant and effective. Perhaps a feeling will be engendered that will force a drastic curtailment of the horribly swollen Federal bureaucracy under which we are being crushed. If that happens, then any sacrifice involved in the new tax bill will be more than worth while.

The week ending April 12 brought an acceleration in the downward movement of Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls, which are currently at the lowest point on record. The week's net decrease amounted to 3,073 cases as 6,604 cases left the rolls during the week while only 3,531 cases were added to the rolls.

At the end of the week, general assistance rolls throughout the state carried a total of 129,250 cases containing 315,643 men, women and children.

Employment in private industry, an increasingly favorable factor for the past nine weeks, removed a net total of 993 cases from the rolls during the week. This was the net result of closing 1,747 cases because of current employment gains and opening 754 cases because of past employment losses.

Nearly 40 Per Cent Of Draft Registrants In State Are Rejected

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 23.—Rejection to date of 40 per cent. of Pennsylvania's draft registrants as physically unfit for army service challenges communities of the commonwealth to protect future generations from similar ills. Dr. John J. Shaw, state secretary of health, declared.

"Most of the deficiencies discovered in the Selective Service registrants such as bad teeth, defective vision and undernourished bodies could have been prevented had they been given the necessary attention early in life," Dr. Shaw said, in announcing that the Pennsylvania Department of Health has scheduled threemonth and child health conferences for 15 northern tier and northwestern counties.

Designed to acquaint professional, lay organizations, public health and welfare agencies with the services made available to individual communities by the health department's bureau of maternal and child health, the first of the conferences will be held May 6 at Cambridge Springs, Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Mercer and Venango counties will be represented.

The second conference will be in Bradford, May 7, for Cameron, Elk, Forest, McKean and Warren counties. On May 8, the third conference will be in Wellsboro, for Tioga, Bradford, Potter, Sullivan and Susquehanna counties.

Dr. Paul Dadds, director of the bureau of maternal and child health, said:

"Nutrition education is needed by every stratum of our people. Every community should have a dental program where dental hygiene and proper care of the teeth is taught to both parents and children."

"School inspection is also extremely important if the child of today is to grow up into the healthy citizen of tomorrow. Health supervision of the pre-school child is an equally vital need."

Maternal and child health service for every rural and urban community in Pennsylvania can only be achieved, in the opinion of Dr. Dadds, when every community realizes its own responsibility, and when all local civic and professional groups are organized for effective cooperation.

During the past year, the bureau of maternal and child health in 185 state-sponsored child health centers supervised the health of approximately 60,000 pre-school children whose parents could not obtain such services from their own resources.

Blackened, smoking ruins of nearly 500 homes at Brant Rock, Mass.

Hundreds of homes have been destroyed, thousands of acres of woodland levelled and millions of dollars of damage caused by forest fires which have roared through sections of 11 eastern states. Among the most destructive of the fires were those at Brant Rock, Mass., where nearly 500 summer homes were left in ashes when flames crackled through dry marsh grass, and at Lakewood, N. J., where scores of homes were destroyed.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 23.—The possibility that Governor James might run for the state supreme court next year has apparently been ruled out by the chief executive's disclosure that "I am not a candidate for any other office." Said the governor: "The constitution prevents me from succeeding myself and I am not a candidate for the United States senate or the appellate courts." The 21-year term of Chief Justice William I. Shafer will end in January, 1943. Under the constitution he cannot succeed himself. His post will be filled at the 1942 fall election.

Recent passage in the house of a Democratic bill repealing the 1 percent wage tax in Philadelphia is part of a long range Democratic plan to win the 1942 gubernatorial election. The advocates of the measure feel confident the bill will fail in the Republican senate, but reason that Philadelphia voters, who are opposed to the tax levied by the Republican-dominated common council, will have all the more reason because of this to support the Democratic ticket. Said one Democratic leader: "It we can carry Philadelphia next year while holding onto our present strength, the governorship and the legislature are in the bag."

Opponents of the Baker-Heatherington bill to legalize Sunday bowling can thank one of their own number for its passage in the house. The bill, after failing by a 98-96 vote, seven less than a constitutional majority, was put back on the calendar by a strict majority vote.

When its backers felt they had sufficient strength to erase their initial defeat, they again called the measure up for passage. The roll call showed 102 votes for the measure, three less than the required constitutional majority.

A verification of the roll was obtained in order to gain a few precious moments in which three more votes could be garnered. Two more votes were gained on the verification and then, as it appeared the bill had again been defeated, a too-eager opponent of the bill asked the speaker to ascertain how Rep. Earl Chudoff (D) Philadelphia had voted. "I didn't vote," said Chudoff. "How do you vote?" asked the speaker. "I vote 'aye,'" said the Philadelphian, giving the measure the one vote needed for passage. The bill expected to die in the senate, however.

The Hirsch bill banning the borrowing of money from the special state funds unless it is repaid during the same biennium has been approved by the house but ran up against opposition by Governor James. The chief executive termed it "unwise legislation". Should the bill pass the senate, however, it could still have a chance of enactment, provided it were approved by the next legislature and by the electorate. Resolutions to amend the constitution do not require the governor's approval.

Chapter Workers Take Part In Big Red Cross Meeting

Chairmen Of Lawrence County Red Cross Departments Attend Discussions

Harry J. Culliford, chairman of First Aid, partook in the Round Table discussion held Tuesday afternoon in the national office of the American Red Cross. Mr. Culliford reported on the completed course of the city firemen and received the plaudits of the National First Aid department.

Mrs. John Elliott, chairman all volunteer services, and Mrs. Robert

Garland, chairman of knitting, heard Mrs. Dwight Davis, national director of Red Cross volunteer services, outline the many services now being carried on by volunteers. Mrs. Elliott gave a glowing report of the Lawrence county chapter's activities.

Attending the military and naval round table were: Miss Thyra Jane Fulton, executive secretary of the local chapter's home service, and Alex McCready, chairman of New Wilmington. This session was of the most importance, as the chapters throughout the United States are having an increased program in the home service work. The Lawrence County Chapter is having new cases added daily to an already large case load. The work increasing as it is, will necessitate another trained case worker. This proposed increase in the chapter staff is being discussed with the national office.

Miss Bodenstein attended the nursing discussion as the chapter is anxious to be permitted by the National Nursing Service to have a full time Red Cross nurse.

Hints On Etiquette

If you are driving an automobile and a pedestrian is crossing the street with the light or right of way, give the pedestrian a chance to get across the street without blowing your horn shrilly and going ahead, if you want to turn the corner.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SIX MONTHS BEST AGE AT WHICH TO START IM- MUNIZING CHILDREN

When to start getting the baby vaccinated and immunized against the diseases that menace childhood seems to be a question about which doctors disagree. However, experience inclines me to believe that if there are no epidemics around to make them necessary earlier, these immunizing operations should be begun when the child is a little over six months old. Sometimes the first of these to be undertaken is the diphtheria toxoiding, sometimes it is the smallpox vaccination.

Ordinarily many parents do not have children vaccinated until they are of school age and it becomes mandatory. However, it is a good idea to vaccinate for smallpox when the child is a little past six months. If the first operation doesn't "take" it should be repeated, for this failure is more apt to be due to a weak vaccine than to any immunity the child may have. Until a "take" has been registered, the child must be considered as susceptible to smallpox.

When he seven years old he should be vaccinated again, and once again when he is 15.

Diphtheria toxoiding ought to be given before the first year. Nine months is about right. One injection of diphtheria antitoxin produces an immunity that lasts about two weeks. The kind of immunity that is generally permanent comes from two or three such injections. After them it is best to give the baby what is called a Schick test, to determine whether immunity has been given.

For in scarlet fever we usually wait to give the inoculations until the disease has shown itself nearby. However, if the child is in an institution where there is danger of epidemics, an immediate but temporary immunity to scarlet fever can be produced by the injection of an antitoxin. Fairly lasting immunities have been induced by giving five or six of these injections, but as I say, it is just as well to wait until the disease is in the neighborhood before giving them, for there is a chance that the immunity may not be lasting. If it is given when there is no scarlet fever present, it may have worn off by the time the disease appears.

For measles we have no permanent immunity through inoculation. But the blood serum of someone who has had the measles will give a temporary immunity for three or four weeks. Better still, if it is given in proper doses, a susceptible child will get a very mild attack of the disease. This mild attack will make him immune to future attacks.

Whooping cough vaccines made of the dead bacilli cut down the chances of infection. Also, they tend to make the infection milder if it is contracted. The injections may well be given when the baby is just under a year.

For chickenpox and mumps no satisfactory immunizer has been developed. Attempts have been made to develop a serum for infantile paralysis but they haven't been very successful.

MAP DRIVE HERE TO AID ARMY MEN

All Creeds Unite In Effort To Get $10,000 Meet
Thursday

Officers of the Catholic Community Service, the Salvation Army, the Y. M. C. A., the Jewish Welfare Board, the Y. W. C. A., and the Travelers' Aid Society, the five local agencies represented in the United Service Organization, Inc., met to plan for a joint New Castle organization to help the nationwide campaign to provide "something to do" and "somewhere to go" for over a million men serving in army camps and defense industries.

Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who was in Washington last week to hear plans of the national movement outlined, reported that high government men are stressing the spiritual welfare of the men.

About $10,000 will be New Castle's share of the $10,765,000 to be raised in the nation.

Representative citizens will meet in the Y. M. C. A. to plan the campaign Thursday, April 24, at 4 p. m.

28th Division Shrine In Boalsburg, Pa.

Memorial services will be conducted at the 28th Division Shrine at Boalsburg, Center county, by the Society of the 28th Division, A. E. It is expected that a large number of the old 28th Division men will be present for the services, honoring the memory of their comrades who made the supreme sacrifice during the World War, or who have since passed on, 2,850 names being on the roster of those who served with the 28th Division, who fell on the field of battle, or who have died since 1919.

Local members wishing further information on the service are asked to get in touch with Comrade Sargent.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The open highway calls the motorist in the springtime.

Seasonal increase in traffic increases traffic accidents.

Highway accidents are up 16 per cent already this year.

Seventeen Pennsylvania towns had no traffic deaths during 1940. These included: Palmerton, Yeadon, Titusville, Blairsville, Tyrone, Also Nazareth, Brackenridge, Tarentum, Mechanicsburg and West View.

Others were, Middletown, Wilmerding, Monongahela and Ford City.

Also, Huntingdon, Greenville and Hollidaysburg.

These towns are on the National Safety Council's honor roll. They show what can be done by care and obeying traffic laws.

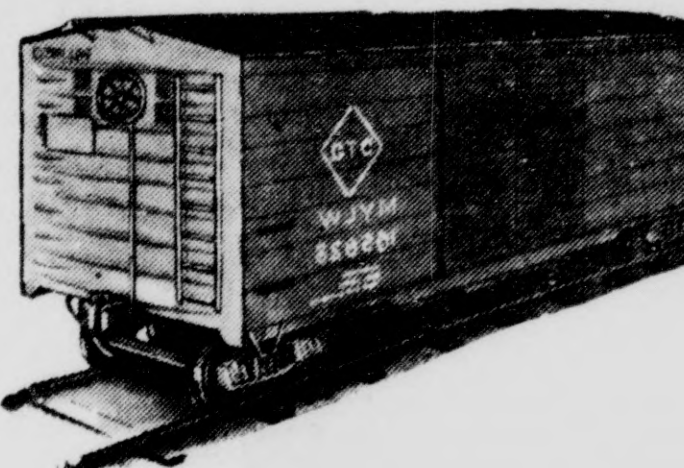

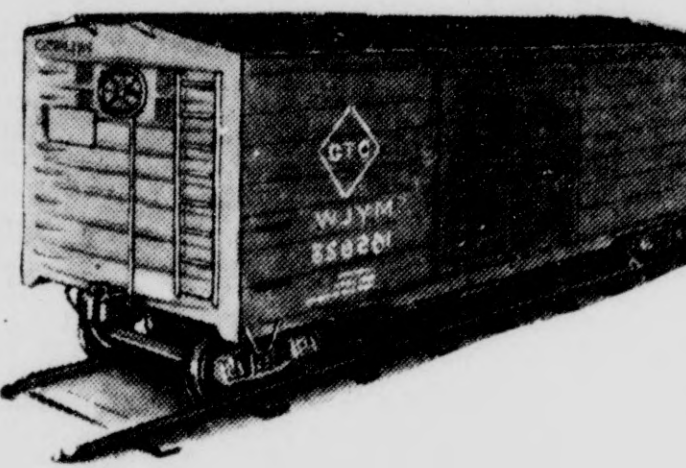

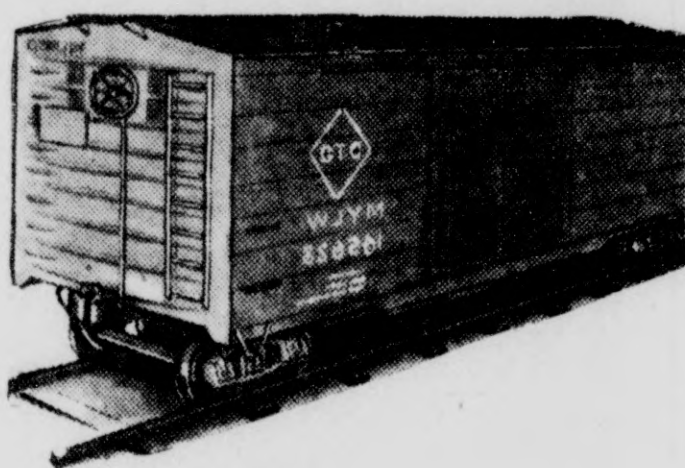

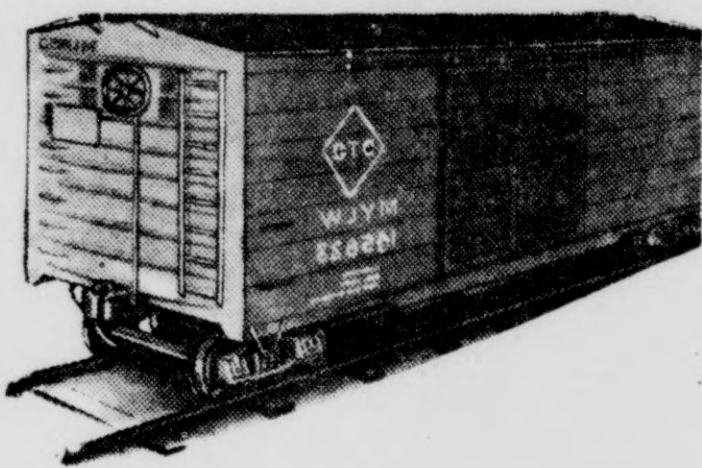

The careless, speedy driver is a potential accident maker.

With spring and summer crowds on the highways, drive carefully.

Garden Club To Sponsor Project

Will Make Effort To Have Rural Residents Beautify Mail Boxes

In cooperation with the Mahoningtown post office, the North Beaver Garden club has launched a project to interest rural residents in improving and beautifying mail boxes in the district.

At the last meeting of the club, the members agreed to furnish paint to any local youth organization that is willing to paint and letter the rural mail boxes.

This painting work will be done during National Rural Mail Box week, May 5 to 10, according to Mrs. S. G. McCullough, president of the club. Mrs. McCullough states, however, that before that week people who live on the rural routes should repair the posts and standards.

Many of the mail box posts are at present leaning and some are ready to fall down. In order to have mail distributed as fast as possible, the boxes should be of uniform height. The height that has been set by the post office department is between 3½ and 4 feet.

Mrs. McCullough has named the following committee to go ahead with the project and solicit the cooperation of the community residents: S. G. McCullough, Mrs. Howard Gilmore and Mrs. J. W. Fullerton. "We will try to make the local rural routes the best in the county," Mrs. Fullerton stated today.

Making Robes For Local Red Cross

Another large and helpful project has been launched by the girls at Crawford-Oakridge N. Y. A. Resident Work Experience Center, Atlantic avenue.

The girls are making 150 bathrobes to be turned over to the local Red Cross for distribution. The robes are being made of very heavy material which requires the use of the new power machines at the center.

BITS OF NEWS IN WARD AREA

Panhandlers have been quite active in the Seventh Ward district during the past few days, according to reports coming from various residents.

The flower beds at St. Margaret's church, corner Second street and West Clayton street, are out in their usual brilliance again this season. Rev. Fr. Michael Hinnbusch, pastor, takes quite a bit of pride in the appearance of the church grounds.

A strange looking three-wheeled vehicle was seen in the Seventh ward Tuesday. The vehicle was a one-man affair, powered with a small gasoline engine and carrying Michigan license plates. The machine was headed west, according to reports.

Although there is a city ordinance against excessive horn blowing, local residents report that many people are evidently disregarding the law as horn blowing is heard at all hours of the day and night.

FORMAL DANCE IS PLANNED APRIL 30

Girls at the Crawford-Oakridge N. Y. A. Resident Girls Work Experience Center, Atlantic avenue, are planning to hold a formal dance on Wednesday evening, April 30. The dance will be held at Sylvan Heights Country club and will be a part of the training of the girls at the center.

Mrs. T. E. Nolan To Be Brought Home

Injured New Castle Golf Star Will Arrive On Thursday Or Friday

(Special To The News)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 23.—Mrs. Thomas E. Nolan, nationally known New Castle golfer who suffered serious back injuries in a fall on the stairway of an Asheville hotel last week, will return home in an ambulance.

The injured golf star, her husband, Thomas, and Mrs. Fred Klink, Mrs. Nolan's mother, will leave Mission hospital Thursday or Friday if it was learned today.

The attending physician stated that Mrs. Nolan's recovery period will last at least two months.

Mrs. Klink, commenting concerning her daughter's injuries, said that "her injury is painful, but not serious."

Mrs. Nolan arrived in Asheville last week to participate in the Land O' The Sky Women's Golf Tournament. She fell along the hotel stairway and sustained two fractured vertebrae. The fall was caused by the catching of her heel on a carpeted stairway.

Champion of Western Pennsylvania Women's Golf Association for the last two years, Mrs. Nolan may recover in time to defend her laurels in Pittsburgh on June 23-27.

Mrs. Nolan resides at 1011 Maryland avenue.

Ready To Accept Weapons Here To Aid Great Britain

Police Chief To Receive Such Weapons, According To Announcement

England needs weapons for defense and anyone in the city of New Castle who desires to help the United States "overseas" friends, can do so by donating any shotgun, rifle or revolver they may desire, it was stated today by Willis G. McMullen, chief of police.

Fearing invasion the people of England need arms to help repel possible parachutists and other invaders.

It doesn't matter if the gun be old, as long as it can be discharged it can be cared for, shipped overseas and given to some native of England with which to help defend his homeland.

Assistant District Attorney Roy Donaldson today told Chief of Police McMullen of a request for guns.

The chief agreed to accept such weapons and through Assistant District Attorney Donaldson, legal action will be taken whereby they can be used in the defense of England.

CONCERT GUILD SEASON CLOSSES

Allegheny Singers Present Program—Announce Plans For Next Season

Presenting the Allegheny Singers as the attraction, the Metropolitan Concert Guild closed its season Tuesday night in the George Washington Junior High school and the closing was a happy one. It was the fourth concert of the season's list, a list that contained some genuinely attractive numbers.

The Allegheny Singers are all students at Allegheny college, singing under the direction of Morten J. Luvaas. Fifty-six in number, they presented a striking appearance in their black cassocks and white surplices.

Their program was in three parts, the first a group of anthems, the second religious in character but not quite so ponderous and the third a group of folk tunes.

Mr. Luvaas has brought the chorus to a fine point of perfection. What the youngsters lack in the maturity that adult years will bring they more than compensate in freshness and vigor of tone. It is not an ordinary college chorus but a group of excellent singers, welded into an efficient group of youngsters, a welcome addition to any concert series.

Banquet Thursday At Union High To Honor Athletes

Jay G. Rudolph Will Serve As Toastmaster At Township School Event

During the evening the program for next year was announced and if the past years have been good, next year's promises to be even better. Four big attractions are listed, beginning with "The Marriage of Figaro" in English. The opera will be presented in English and in modern dress.

Second on the list is the Curtis String Quartet with Abram Chasins, pianist. Next is Jacques Cartier, styled as "a one-man theatre," and the concluding number will be John Brownlee Metropolitan Opera baritone, assisted by Iso Briselli, a violinist.

May 1 to 15 has been designated as "Membership Weeks" when it is hoped the response will be sufficient to carry the program planned for next season.

Jay G. Rudolph, supervising principal of the township schools will be toastmaster for the program. Denny Schill, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, will be the main speaker for the program.

Senior letters at the school will be presented sweaters during the special recognition portion of the program and junior athletes will be given letters.

One of the longest messages ever telegraphed to a newspaper was sent in 1882, when the entire New Testament as revised was wired from New York to Chicago.

Fishing Contest Top Sport Event

Boys Will Vie For Eight Valuable Prizes In Local Streams Saturday

CONTEST TO BEGIN AT SEVEN O'CLOCK

With 55 names already listed in the entry book, Saturday's fishing contest for New Castle boys headlines this week's local sports calendar.

Emmett Gillaspie, Ben Franklin Junior High instructor who presented the idea to the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association, today predicted that more than 65 boys will vie for the eight prizes to be awarded.

"While it is too late to turn in an entry blank, youngsters desiring to compete need only make their own arrangements for transportation and report to the city parking lot, South Mercer street, Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. The contest is open to any New Castle boy between the age of 10 and 17 inclusive," Gillaspie, chairman of the event, said today.

Report At 7 O'Clock
Gillaspie stated that all contestants must report to the Mercer street parking lot Saturday morning at 7 o'clock to receive instructions. Streams where boys will be required to fish will be announced then. Boys who have turned in entry blanks will be taken to the various streams by the transportation committee.

Eight valuable prizes, including two wrist watches and fishing equipment, will be awarded the winners. Prizes will be awarded to boys catching the most fish (limit prescribed by law); largest brown trout and the largest rainbow trout. The contestants will be separated according to ages so that all boys will have an equal chance to win a prize.

"In addition to trout, shiners, chubbies and suckers will count," Gillaspie announced.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, contestants will be asked to lend farmers a helping hand.

The contest ends at 5 o'clock. Boys must report to the starting place Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

The Sportsmen's association is sponsoring the contest.

Rookie Pitcher Handcuffs Yanks

Lester McCrabb From Christiana, Pa., Pitches Athletics To Victory 6-5

PIRATES DROP LONG ONE TO CARDINALS

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, April 23.—Until yesterday we knew very little about Lester William McCrabb except that he was 26 years old, slender, right handed, came from Christiana, Pa. (see larger maps) and had pitched with indifferent success for Toronto last year.

We might never have known more about the young man if old Connie Mack, made desperate by five straight licks for his Athletics, hadn't chosen to unveil him against the Yanks.

Today we know a little more about McCrabb. We know he can make the Yanks moan as he did yesterday by trimming them, 6 to 5; we know he has the poise of an ambassador and the control of a Grover Alexander. We also know that he is the first pitcher to handcuff Joe Muro in this year and that in itself equities him to a world of respect from the cognescenti.

After hitting furiously in 27 straight games this spring, Joe finally found his master in the young man off whose tantalizing deliveries the pride of the Yanks couldn't get more than a loud foul.

McCrabb—and somehow that has the proper tang for a baseball name—led the Yanks to six hits, three of which were homers by Dickey, Henrich and Keller good for a five-run Yankee lead. However, this didn't seem to bother him at all, and after the A's tied it up for him against Chandler, he continued unperturbed until his mates beat Murphy in the ninth.

That was a neat job for a rookie but an even better one was turned in by the veteran Bill Dietrich of the White Sox who trimmed the Tigers with two hits, 6 to 3. Bill had a no-hit, no run game in hand until the ninth when an error, Greenberg's single and York's homer spoiled the day for him.

The Red Sox combined five errors with Shoddy pitching to give the Senators a 12-5 decision over them. Cecil Travis, soon to be paged by Uncle Sam, continued his murderous hitting pace and the American league pitchers are going to breathe a sigh of relief when he joins the army.

Eldon Auker, who had the Indian sign on the Indians five times last year, started in where he left off by trimming them for the Browns, 6-3. Al Milnar being the victim.

Reds Topple Cubs
There were some noteworthy doings in the other league, too, where Johnny Vander Meer won a swell pitching duel from Bill Lee, 1-0. The Reds' star gave the Cubs only four hits and fanned an even dozen. Big Bill gave up only five hits but two wild pitches in the sixth helped the Reds land their only run to beat him.

Dolph Camilli and Hugh Casey battled and pitched the Giants into a 7-4 defeat. The big Dodger first baseman drove in five of his team's runs and fanned a single. The Phillies finally broke a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Bees, 6-4, but they had to travel 14 innings to get the decision on Joe Marty's single.

The Cards showed their fighting spirit by twice coming from behind to beat the Pirates in 12 heats, 9 to 8. The Cards put over three runs in the ninth to tie the score, then after the Pirates had made a run in the first half of the 12th, the Redbirds came back with two to win.

Chapman Awaits Physical Checkup

National Amateur Champion Willing To Serve His "Hitch" If Physically Fit

(International News Service)
GREENWICH, Conn. April 23.—Dick Chapman had his troubles with Uncle Sam virtually "ironed out" today, the national amateur golf champion having announced he is ready to join the army if the draft board and military physicians find he is physically fit.

Chapman returned to Greenwich from Montgomery, Ala., where he was assistant athletic director at Maxwell field. He said he would appear before physicians at Hartford with the next group of draftees for a final examination.

Chapman previously contended that he was not physically qualified for military service.

He added that if the doctors turn him down, he will return to Montgomery to continue his duties at the army air training station there without pay.

MIKE KREEVICH OUT TO REDEEM HIMSELF

Look for the Chicago White Sox to toss a monkey wrench in the American League flag chase—provided Mike Kreevich hits his old stride. Kreevich experienced a dismal season in 1940 when he clubbed at a .265 pace. Manager Dickie is sure the Sox will be in the thick of the fight if Mike finds his old form.

Somethin' New in Caddies

Mary Thomas at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Something new in golf caddies is tried out by Mary Thomas on the course at Old Point Comfort, Va. "Kim," a white Collie dog serves as Mary's caddy, juggling the clubs around on a specially-built rig. Of course, Mary has to hunt those missing pellets herself.

TEXANS AWAIT FOR U. S. OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 23.—The national open golf championship is to be decided at Fort Worth, Tex. June 5-7 may set a record for attendance, probably will be won by a Texan and undoubtedly will produce the lowest winning score in the history of the event.

Jimmy Demaret, the Beau Brummel of the fairways and one of those native Texans who of late have been cutting such a figure in golf, authored the foregoing views today.

The former masters champion said the world has never seen the likes of the tournament they are fixing to stage out in the Lone Star state. It is going to be put on and run off with pomp and festivities in keeping with the occasion, which happens to be the first U. S. open ever held below the Mason and Dixon line.

Homecoming of Stars
It is going to be like a homecoming for such notables as Demaret—if he qualifies—Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Ralph Guldahl, Lloyd and Ray Mangrum, Dick Metz, Harry Cooper and several others who hope to be there. They're originally from Texas courses, although they are serving at many scattered clubs now.

As for the scoring, Demaret said: "The Colonial club course is a fine layout and will help to make a great tournament, but the record of 281 set by Guldahl in the 1938 open is almost certain to be bettered. It will take 280 or less to win."

BLASTS PHILLOPOPOLOS
Joe Horvath blasted out Pete Phillopopoulos in four rounds in Akron last night. The crowd was small, and Frankie Wallace and Pete Leone did not fight because of this. They met at Akron, once a great fight town.

Blessed with incredible golfing ability, Mrs. Nolan has competed in every top tournament for women. Her annual winter tour was halted by an appendicitis operation in February. Recently, she left for the south. She planned to return here this week. Her husband, Thomas Nolan, hurried to the side of his wife. New Castle's sports fraternity joins hands in hoping that the injuries prove to be of a less serious nature than they are believed to be.

Sylvan Heights will probably be the scene of one of the top golf tournaments in the district—the Western Pennsylvania Public Links tournament. Gene Veri, president of the Sylvan Heights Golf league, today announced that as soon as the club's committee stamps its approval, a formal announcement will be made. The gigantic event, open to all western Pennsylvania, public links players, will be held in June or August, Veri said.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Sonny Horne of Niles, who went to the finals only to be defeated the National Amateur Athletic Union meet recently in Boston, will headline the fist-docket here next Monday night. Billy Irwin of McKeesport will oppose the Ohioan, who prior to journeying to Boston had captured the championships of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Chicago Tribune welterweight tournaments. The bouts will be staged in the air-cooled Arena. At Ellwood City last night Billy Beale did not fight when Tod Cole failed to appear. He was offered a bout with Nemo Smith, a rangy colored fighter, but claimed he was not in condition to box such a formidable opponent.

Our Boots was made a three to one favorite yesterday to win the Kentucky Derby. Trailing in the odds were Porter's Cap, King Cole and Whirlaway.

Rollin Horne defeated Henry Rise and Pete Miska in amateur bouts. Mark last night in amateur bouts. Louie Kerkido won from Harry Parks. Mike Piskovitch beat Harry Pastovich and Ozzie Pegese. He beat Dick Roche. Some of these boys will box here Monday.

Johnny Leiff, Cleveland sophomore, was named captain of Ohio State 1942 swimmer yesterday.

McGEE KEEPS ARM
IN "COLD STORAGE"
Bill McGee, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, put his arm in "cold storage" during the winter and seems to do all right.

The Cardinal ace winter-works with the North American Cold Storage. He won 16 mound decisions last year.

With Grove, Hubbell, Gomez and some of the other famous southpaws of the game slowly descending along the inevitable downward path, 20-game winners among portside pitchers are scarce. At a matter of fact, the crooked arm peggers haven't been represented in this select group since 1937. "Lefty" Gomez, trying valiantly to shake off a slump which almost saw him lose his Yankee uniform, was the last twirler to grace the list. He copped 21.

Some of the more informed members of the intelligent set of scribbling vocation believe that "Hank" Leiber, champ holdout, will sink for the entire season. Who will be the loser? Mr. Wrigley? Not by a long shot. . . Brooklyn's lack of base knocks have cost the Durocher men everyone of their early losses. So far, well over 50 Brooks have been left stranded on the sacks. . . The Giants beat the Daffs six times last season. They've almost equalled that mark this far.

Benny McCoy, the biggest mistake Connie Mack ever made in almost a half-century of baseball, is being kept on the bench by "Crash" Davis, a youthful second sacker from Duke University. He made the jump straight from Duke. . . Hats off to Wesley Ferrell, who seems to have hit the comeback trail, at least against the Phils, whom he has licked twice in a week. When the tougher opposition comes along—that's where he hitch will come, Wes.

BAXTER AND LES LEASURE, VICTORS

Marion Klingensmith, Brownsville, decided Johnny Como, Oil City, in an amateur boxing bout last night in the Shelby Social club, Ellwood City. The battle went the limited three rounds. Klingensmith forced the fighting. Some fans believed Como should have drawn the award. However, it was a pleasing bout. The Shelby Social club staged the bouts, which drew several hundred fans.

Jack Burke, Vestaburg, who beat Rollin Horne here some time ago, kayoed Elbie Bowie of Aliquippa in the third round. The lightweight staged a mighty fast fight until a right floored Bowie, who tried to climb off his feet by grasping the ropes. Referee Sam Leyschock stopped the fight to save Bowie from needless punishment.

Russell Baxter of New Castle stopped Barney Eby of McKeesport in the opening bout. Baxter weighed 155 and Eby 150. Les Leasure, also of this city, stopped Elmo Preston of Aliquippa in the second round at 160, and when Al and Russ Leasure, brothers, of this city, boxed at 135, Russ won by a knockout in the second round.

Retardo Wins
Buck Chambers of West Pittsburg, who has been idle for months, lost by a knockout to Carl Lockart of Aliquippa in the third round of a light-heavyweight fight.

Larry Retardo of Ellwood City won a lightweight bout from Levi Scott, a colored boy from Oil City, in the second bout on the card. Both boys showed a willingness to mix, and the crowd was pleased.

Tommy Saunders of Oil City won over Tommy Havanas of Vestaburg in the second round by a technical kayo. The referee, Sam Leyschock, stopping the bout to save Havanas from punishment.

The judges were Arthur Kiefer of New Castle and Maurice Zweig of Ellwood City. George Rocco, former amateur middleweight, was the timekeeper, and Charles Walther of New Castle was the announcer. Johnny Lucciano was the matchmaker, being assisted by Merritt Beck, manager of boxers.

Edward D. Fritz, Jr., was in charge of the bouts for the State Athletic commission and Ed Fritz, Sr., represented the A. A. U.

West Pittsburg Team Looks Good

Fundoots And Elsser Will Assist DeGnova In Managing "Gas House" Team

The West Pittsburg "Gas House" baseball team is going to make it tough for the other City Baseball league teams this year. It was strongly indicated last night at the initial workout of the team at the West Pittsburg field. Upwards of 30 young men responded to the call of Manager Danny DeGnova.

Assisting DeGnova with the managing of the club this year will be those two "Gas House" veterans after many years will give up his shortstop berth to a younger man. Fundoots retired two years ago from active play after a grand career of about 15 years of steady fly chasing in the outfield.

The following reported last night for tryouts for the 1941 team—the four Markey brothers, James, Mike, John and Albert, the DeMonaco brothers, Albert and James; Alce, Koster, Bravkovich, Tonsette, Powell, Attison, Winters, Kolik and Schirran, a rookie shortstop who looks promising. There are a number of promising rookies who hope to catch the eye of one of the three managers.

Diplomats Win B. And O. Title

Capture B. And O. Duckpin Championship In Roll-Off Last Evening

One of the most interesting finishes in recent years in the B. & O. Duckpin league took place last evening at the McCoy alleys when the Ambassadors, champions of the first half, and the Diplomats, champions of the second half, met to decide the championship, with the Diplomats, captained by Carl Sewald, finally winning out after a furious battle by a margin of 37 pins. Dom Sarbo, captain of the Ambassadors, made a valiant try to lead his boys to the heights, but they fell just a little short.

Enthusiasm was high, the title being decided upon total points, and a few remarks by either team meant victory, one way or the other, but the Diplomats came through in fine style to cop the title.

The league activities will be wound up on next Tuesday evening with a banquet, which will be served in the Moose Temple on South Mercer street at 6 o'clock. 90 reservations having already been received for the event.

AL MILNAR DISPLAYS
STEADY IMPROVEMENTS
Al Milnar, Cleveland portside, is gradually developing into one of the premier southpaws in the American league.

Milnar enjoyed his most successful season since "coming up" in 1940 when he bagged 18 triumphs. Milnar hopes to nail 20 victories this season. His opening feat was a two-hitter at the expense of the Chicago White Sox, a team he whipped four times last year.

Player-Coach Al Simmons, of the A's, thinks a dish of hate turns a good athlete into a great one. In fact, company, he says, just ability isn't enough. You need a little venom to produce that extra something.

REYNOLDS & SUMNERS

Fashions for Men, Young Men and Boys

Touring some of the sports belts: The career of one of America's most talented women golfers—Mrs. T. E. Nolan of this city—has been jeopardized by a serious fall on the steps of an Asheville, N. C., hotel several days ago. The popular ex-salt resident, West Penn women's champion in 1939 and '40, is in a hospital, Asheville, suffering with severe spinal injuries. It is feared that Mrs. Nolan sustained a splintering of the spine and three fractured vertebrae.

Blessed with incredible golfing ability, Mrs. Nolan has competed in every top tournament for women. Her annual winter tour was halted by an appendicitis operation in February. Recently, she left for the south. She planned to return here this week. Her husband, Thomas Nolan, hurried to the side of his wife. New Castle's sports fraternity joins hands in hoping that the injuries prove to be of a less serious nature than they are believed to be.

Sylvan Heights will probably be the scene of one of the top golf tournaments in the district—the Western Pennsylvania Public Links tournament. Gene Veri, president of the Sylvan Heights Golf league, today announced that as soon as the club's committee stamps its approval, a formal announcement will be made. The gigantic event, open to all western Pennsylvania, public links players, will be held in June or August, Veri said.

With Grove, Hubbell, Gomez and some of the other famous southpaws of the game slowly descending along the inevitable downward path, 20-game winners among portside pitchers are scarce. At a matter of fact, the crooked arm peggers haven't been represented in this select group since 1937. "Lefty" Gomez, trying valiantly to shake off a slump which almost saw him lose his Yankee uniform, was the last twirler to grace the list. He copped 21.

Some of the more informed members of the intelligent set of scribbling vocation believe that "Hank" Leiber, champ holdout, will sink for the entire season. Who will be the loser? Mr. Wrigley? Not by a long shot. . . Brooklyn's lack of base knocks have cost the Durocher men everyone of their early losses. So far, well over 50 Brooks have been left stranded on the sacks. . . The Giants beat the Daffs six times last season. They've almost equalled that mark this far.

Benny McCoy, the biggest mistake Connie Mack ever made in almost a half-century of baseball, is being kept on the bench by "Crash" Davis, a youthful second sacker from Duke University. He made the jump straight from Duke. . . Hats off to Wesley Ferrell, who seems to have hit the comeback trail, at least against the Phils, whom he has licked twice in a week. When the tougher opposition comes along—that's where he hitch will come, Wes.

Removes Glasses; Player Bats .486

ATLANTA—Convinced that he needed glasses, Hubert Bates, Memphis centerfielder, donned glasses in 1940 and wound up with a paltry .286 batting average.

During the winter, Bates was informed by an eye specialist to chuck the cheaters.

He's lead the Southern Association league with a juicy .486 mark.

State Has Two Anglers' Havens; One Opens May 9

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, April 23.—"Fisherman's Paradise" in Bellefonte and "Fisherman's Paradise" in Pottsville, two anglers' havens in Pennsylvania, are soon to be officially opened. The State Department of Commerce reported today.

Many fishing enthusiasts will be out to try their luck for brook, brown and rainbow trout at the Bellefonte "Fisherman's Paradise" May 9 at 8 a. m. the opening time. According to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, fishermen are limited to barbless hooks, and such form of artificial fly as dry, wet, nymph, bucktail or streamer.

Husbands can't blame wives for the "one that got away" at the Bellefonte "Fisherman's Paradise" because there are separate sections for men and women. Men are allowed to keep two 10-inch trout out of the legal ten a day. Women are allowed to keep two trout which need be only seven inches long.

Resident and non-resident anglers are allowed a maximum of five days and must carry Pennsylvania state fishing licenses.

In the warm water "Fisherman's Paradise" at the North Park lagoon in Pittsburgh which will open Tuesday, July 1, according to Allegheny County Parks Director George E. Kelly, there are thousands of bluegills, catfish, bass, carp, sunfish and perch awaiting lucky anglers. The fish were placed in the lake last year by the State Fish Commission.

Fishermen will be allowed to fish from rowboats and from any place along the five-mile shore front. There is no fee for fishing in the lagoon, but rod and reels must be over 16 years of age and must carry Pennsylvania state fishing licenses. Creel limit is five of the combined species per day.

Pirates Unload Fireman Brown

Dodgers Grab Relief Twirler; Price Believed To Be $20,000

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 23.—Mace Brown, 30-year-old relief pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates since 1935, today was to join the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Announcement of the sale of Brown for an undisclosed sum was made by Pirates Manager Frankie Frisch, who explained that he was building up a younger pitching squad and felt he could safely let Brown go to the New Yorkers.

Brown has a record of 55 games won and 45 lost with the Pirates. In the 1938 season, his best, he won 15 and lost nine.

NEW YORK—Manager Leo Durocher opined today that the gap in Brooklyn's pitching staff is filled.

Durocher had reference to acquisition of Mace Brown, right-handed relief flinger, whom the Dodgers bought yesterday from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Price involved in the deal was not announced, but conferees placed the figure at $20,000.

For the first time in many years, Colonel Edward R. Bradley has not entered a horse in the coming Kentucky Derby.

Penn Relays To Attract Throongs

Thousands Of Young Athletes Gather In Philadelphia For Annual Relays

SEVENTY-FIVE EVENTS LISTED

By FRANK J. BURKE
International News Service Sports Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—From all sections of the nation selected, lithe-limbed athletes converged upon Philadelphia today to loosen up their running, jumping and throwing muscles for the world's greatest track and field extravaganza—the Penn relays.

Three thousand of the finest scholastic and college athletic stars will carry the colors of 500 educational institutions in the 47th annual renewal of the carnival at Franklin field on Friday and Saturday.

Billed as "America's Olympic games," this year's carnival promises to maintain the shining reputation for thrills and records established since the first relays in 1895. Not a few world champions tested their first competition in the Penn spectacle—the incubator and backbone of American track.

Lots Of Events
There will be 75 events in all and lots of individual contests during the two days of running, jumping, hurdling, weight-throwing, javelin-throwing and discus-throwing. But it's the bitter track competition, rather than "name stars" which holds the spotlight in the 1941 relays.

Ed Dugger, Tufts hurdler, and Barney Ewell, Penn State's negro sprinter, rate as entrants of star magnitude. Dugger may crack his N. C. A. A. mark of 13.9 seconds in the invitation 120-yard timbers, while the ebony flash is favored in the 100-yard dash.

It's the mile relay championship that gets the headline spot in the forthcoming meet. And that's mainly because one of the entries is the North Texas Teachers' quartet which whirled a 3:54 mile—fastest time in the country this season—at the recent Texas games.

McCandles Home Destroyed By Fire

ELLWOOD CITY, April 23.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCandles, situated in Wayne township, near Slippery Rock Stop, was completely destroyed by fire about three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The house was owned by D. K. Cole, Wayne township.

The fire may have been caused by an overheated stove or a defective chimney, as Mrs. McCandles was baking bread at the time the fire occurred. She was at home alone and did not discover the fire until the entire roof of the frame building was ablaze. The house and all its contents, including the family's clothing and furniture, were burned. There are no fire-fighting facilities in the district and the house was practically burned before the neighbors reached the scene.

Until they make some definite arrangements, Mr. and Mrs. McCandles and their family are residing with a daughter, Mrs. John Winkler, of Wayne township.

FINISHES HOUSE IN SEVEN DAYS!

Construction starts as wall is lowered into place

Seven days later... ready for occupancy

With an eye toward families with incomes of less than $1,500 who want to build new homes, Hal Hayes, a 28-year-old Burbank, Cal., engineer, has hit upon an idea which he thinks meets the need. He builds what are believed to be the first pre-fabricated concrete houses, pouring a special mixture of concrete into molds and transporting the walls and roof to the building site where they are erected by a crane. Within two hours he can set up an entire house, and within a week he can have the house ready for occupancy, complete with wiring, fireplaces and fixtures. As an added advantage Hayes says, the houses meet British requirements for bomb-proof shelters, being built to stop bomb fragments but not direct hits.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL

It's rather shocking at times to see just how mean and unpleasant the human race can be. Take for example a case right here in New Castle. A young girl about the age of 16 years now; . . . two years ago was in very unpleasant health . . . she suffered a very serious impediment in speech . . . she was undernourished and the future didn't look too rosy. Her family was not blessed with the necessary earthly powers to have treatments for her ailment . . . however a townsman came to her assistance. She was given treatments for her speech and two years she has faithfully taken and responded to these treatments. Today she has almost entirely overcome her impediment in speech, her health is two hundred percent better and her future can be the same as any other girls "IF" the people of this community quit being so mean and unpleasant. Two years ago when this girl was suffering from her ailment, she was unable to raise the necessary money by selling articles from door to door . . . now people think she was a fake and putting on the whole act just to receive pity . . . that was not the case . . . two years ago she was sick . . . today she is well. Please folks, don't judge a person harshly until you know the entire story. Anyone wishing to verify this story may do so by calling in PERSON at this desk.

According to a report that was called in . . . a bride and groom from New Castle now honeymooning in New York were very lucky last night when they appeared on "Uncle Jim's Question Bee" program and walked off with very nice prize money. Dr. Homer Allen and his bride was the lucky couple.

You know folks we have a lot of boys away in army camps . . . have you written as often as you promised. If sometimes gets a little lonesome . . . and when they come back for a few days . . . give them a big hand. All their work is not fun . . . there are days when things look pretty dull . . . let's not forget these boys . . . they are giving and giving much to insure your security.

Don't forget the classified ads . . . they work while you sleep . . . and the way they help with housecleaning and fixing up the yard . . . boy, they nearly take your breath away with speed . . . and they cost so little to use . . . fifteen words for thirty cents and about 90,000 people read them.

Stock Market Firmer Today

Some Stocks Up But Changes Generally Are Quite Modest

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 23.—The stock market firmed up today after a mixed and quiet opening. A few stocks were up as much as a point, but changes generally were modest.

Steels again were the leaders, with Bethlehem climbing more than a point at one time. There was activity and strength in the low-priced Southern Pacific which moved up a half-point. Other rails also improved the group being helped by the bullish March earnings reports of several Class I carriers.

U. S. Steel converted an initial fractional loss into a similar gain, as did Chrysler, which hit a new 1941 low at one time.

Several other issues reached new bottoms before meeting support, notably Eastman Kodak on a tumble of 2 points to 124. The group included Firestone, Engineers Public Service, National Distillers, Air Reduction and National Biscuit.

Most gains were chalked up by American Tobacco "B," Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Continental Can, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott and U. S. Rubber.

Ninety Per Cent Of French Industry Works For Germany

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LISBON, April 23.—About 90 per cent of French industry is working today on German order, according to both French and foreign economic experts in France.

Thus, Franco-German "collaboration" in every important practical sense except the military, is in full swing and has been for months despite the windy discussions at Vichy which have tended to give the outside world the impression that collaboration was something yet to be determined.

Started After Armistice
Industrial collaboration with Germany started immediately after the signing of the Armistice last June. The opinion was universal in France at that time that the defeat of Britain and the end of the war was but a few weeks off. Industrialists, almost without exception, hurried to climb on Germany's new European bandwagon.

By Oct. 1, French industries had contracted for the manufacture of 2,700,000,000 francs worth of war materials for Germany. These included 600,000,000 francs worth of aluminum, by the aluminum company of France (near Marseilles); 240,000,000 francs for optical instruments by the Lavallois company; 883,000,000 francs for locomotives; 75,000,000 francs for Morane planes.

Remember, these figures were just up to Oct. 1, 1940. Since then they have been enormously surpassed. The list of industries letting contracts which made up the 2,700,000,000-franc figure did not include the big automobile, rubber and steel industries which are now working on German order.

Much Seized Outright
The material for which these contracts were entered was, of course, far exceeded in value by equipment and goods which were requisitioned and sequestered. For example 450 boats were seized outright, thousands of automobiles and trucks, rolling stock and vast supplies of grain, gas and oil. Total value ran into billions of francs.

Many of the industrialists who rushed in to work for Germany last summer, thinking a British defeat near, are not so sure of German victory now and do not enjoy their position. However, they have little choice but to go ahead. They are dependent on Germany for raw materials and they must collaborate or close down.

I heard of only one instance in which a big industrialist flatly refused to work for Germany. He was tough, lion-hearted Prince Poniatowski, of the famous French-Polish family, managing director of the Hispano-Suiza Company, maker of luxury cars and airplane motors. He was arrested and taken to Germany when persuasion failed. His workmen rallied to him and blew up the great underground motor works which he had built for wartime production of airplane motors. The Germans stripped part of the factory of its machine tools, taking them to Germany, and forced what was left of the plant to go to work.

Long Job To Get Tire
It is easy to see the extent to which Germany monopolizes the output of French industry at this time if you try to buy a new automobile or a new tire for an automobile. It is almost impossible to buy a new car, though the Renault, Matford and other automobile factories are hard at work. It is about a four-day job to buy a tire—if you can do it at all. You must go to the prefect of your department and prove your absolute need of a tire and obtain a special requisition before you can make the purchase.

Recently the big Potez plane factory at Amiens, badly damaged during the battle of France, went back into operation, its output going to the Luftwaffe.

French subsidiaries of American companies are in the same boat with other French industries; they must collaborate or shut down. These include the Matford Company (French Ford) and the Goodrich Tire Company. The Goodrich Company had piled up enormous stocks of rubber before the war started. Most of it fell into German hands. There is no legal recourse to Washington, because these subsidiaries were organized as French firms. Industrialists in France are divided today on the question of collaboration. Those who feel Germany will win the war feel there is no choice but to go along under the new order. But those who now think Germany is not going to win—and there are an increasing number of these—are considerably distressed at having to work for Germany now. There is continual sabotage, but not on an important scale. Workmen caught committing acts of sabotage are shot. Those suspected of sabotage, or suspected of having any strong inclination to commit sabotage, are bundled off to concentration camps. Best estimates place the number of Frenchmen in concentration camps at between 15,000 and 20,000. A good percentage of these are workmen considered not "safe".
